Where would you look for the following?

1. As part of a business course you are taking, you need to draw a map of the United States and label the city in each state with the largest average income per resident.

2. You are taking a biology course and run across a term you do not understand. Where would you find the definition of ontogenetic development?

3. As part of a history course, you need to select an important battle from ancient history and describe the armies of the participants in the war. However, you do not know the name of a single ancient battle. Where might you learn about some?

4. You receive an assignment to write an essay about a famous woman of your choice, but she must be from South Carolina. Where would you begin looking for ideas?

5. You need to quickly find a basic piece of data to complete one of your papers. You need the population of New York City in 1992. What is a good place to look?

6. You are writing a paper about George Washington and need a thorough biography about his life, including politics, marriage, military experience and childhood. Where would you consider looking?