JOURNAL ARTICLES FROM USC UPSTATE LIBRARY DATABASES

If there is a DOI:

If there is no DOI—at the end of the citation, enter the home page of the journal in which the article was published. Usually this can be easily found by doing a Google search. In the example below, you would search Google for the home page of MEDSURG Nursing.

In text reference example for article above by Jeffs and others

At the end of a sentence: (Jeffs et al., 2013)
If a direct quote is used, include page number: (Jeffs et al., 2013, p. 27)
If authors are part of a sentence: Jeffs et al. (2013) ….

See this link, from the American Psychological Association’s APA Style Bog for further examples regarding direct quotations.

Cochrane Reviews
See this link from the American Psychological Association APA Style Blog

EBOOKS FROM USC Upstate Library database, Credo:

For further examples and in text citation information for e-books go to this link from the American Psychological Association’s APA Style Blog web page.

Government Web Sites:

For further examples, go to this link from the American Psychological Association’s APA Style Blog.